

MRS. R. P. MOODY TO HEAD THE DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOLS

District Sunday School Association held Friday evening well attended and interesting program was rendered.

The meeting of the Maysville District Sunday school convention at the First M. E. Church, South, Friday evening was well attended. It was a meeting in which the most of the attendants were the real workers of our Sunday schools.

The program as announced was carried through with keen interest on the part of every one present. It was a select company of workers gathered together to hear and learn that which would be a help toward making our Sunday schools more efficient. The discussion led by Miss Hilda Threlkeld on "The Worker's Council" was very helpful. Prof. Calkins outlined a plan for teacher-training that appears to be very practical and will be given a try out by the Sunday school association soon. The address of Dr. Harbourn on Sunday school music was the feature of the meeting. The Sunday school has become the great popular service of the church. Many attend Sunday school who never attend the church service proper. This being true the Sunday school service must be made of such a character as will contribute to the development of the worshipful spirit more and more. This can be done to a great extent by the sort of songs used. Dr. Harbourn expressed it as his opinion that while we need the bright cheerful songs in the school the standard hymns of the church should have a place in the Sunday school service. The children should be taught the great hymns of the church. The suggestions of the speaker, if followed out, would do much toward making the Sunday school service one to develop the spiritual life of the attendants.

The State Convention which meets in Winchester October 3-5 was given a boost. It was announced that three delegates: Mrs. J. H. Wells, county secretary, Mrs. R. K. Chambers of Sardinia, and Miss Mary Patterson, of Germantown, would attend the state convention as delegates representing the county association. Mason county now enjoys the honor held by only two other counties of the state, that of being a Class A Sunday school county. Thirty service points have been earned by the county organization during the past year. Mason county is also on the Honor Roll for paying in full her apportionment to the State Association, an honor shared in with but about five other counties. Mason county has reason to be proud of her Sunday schools.

Seven schools of the district were represented in Friday evening's meeting. Officers elected for the coming year were: President, Mrs. R. P. Moody; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Jennie Dickson.

MRS. RENAKER AND FOX ALLOWED BAIL

December 11th Set as Date for Trial Of Accused in Sensational Murder.

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 23. — Mrs. Nancy Catherine Renaker, 32, charged in an indictment with conspiracy in the murder of her husband, was arrested here Friday morning and by agreement between the commonwealth and prosecution was permitted to give bond in the sum of $5,000.

Her bondsmen are her two uncles, former County Judge Leo Evans and Curtis Evans, and her attorney for the settlement of the estate, former Circuit Judge J. M. Benton and S. T. Davis. Reese Fox, indicted for conspiracy in the murder, which was charged to Scohee Hardman by the grand jury, was also allowed to give bond of $5,000, the same sum on which he was released after his examining trial. His bondsmen are Lilo Fox, R. C. Fox, W. T. Fox, C. B. Fox and C. C. Fox.

The trials were set to begin in Clark circuit court December 11. Reese Fox will inherit considerable property from the estate of his grandfather, James A. Fox, who died in Lexington Friday morning. His maternal grandfather, John D. Reese, of this county, is also wealthy.

Hearing on the application of Scohee Hardman, also charged with murder in connection with the case, will be held before Judge W. R. Shackelford next Monday.

Mrs. Renaker, who has been quoted in special dispatches purported to have been sent from Winchester, declared today that she had made no recent statement in connection with the case and again refused to make one.

DARTOWN NEIGHBORS.
One of the big numbers in J. A. Coburns minstrels at the Washington on October 2nd is an old-time colored dance party and characteristic log cabin scene entitled "Dartown Neighbors," in which the comedy element of the company is given an opportunity to rejuvenate the gals trills of mirth, melody and terpsichorean dances, peculiar to the old days. Dan Hott the Georgia Cotton Blossom whose home in Macon, Ga., made him familiar with these festivities is sponsor for the details and production of this comedy harmony number, and it is said to be a most creditable innovation strictly in line with enjoyable minstrelsy. Of Mammy, Uncle, mischievous pickaninnies, colored belles and sporty coons vie in harmony for a royal good time.

LEAGUE SEASON MAY COME TO END WITH GAMES NEXT WEEK

League Meeting Saturday Night at Paris—Clubs May Be Required to Play Every Day Next Week to Close Up Schedule.

The Blue Grass League will likely terminate its schedule for the 1922 season on Sunday, September 30th, the last of the month in order that the post series between Maysville and the winner of the second half can be started the first week of October before the fall weather makes the playing of the games impossible. This matter will be discussed at a meeting of the directors of the clubs in the league at Paris Saturday night as well as other arrangements in regard to the series as to number of games to be played, where the first contest will be staged and how the games will be alternated. This new arrangement is satisfactory to all the clubs in the circuit since all the games that are now scheduled will be moved up to previous dates and crowded into the week of September 25 to 30, with a game every day of that week. The new arrangement of the schedule would give Maysville three games within a week. Mr. Sterling here Monday, Winchester here Thursday, and Paris here Sunday for the final game. This would necessitate the calling off of the exhibition game with the Flemingsburg club on Monday. Though not definitely known the post-season series will likely begin on October 2nd.

President Russell will not be able to attend the meeting at Paris Saturday night but will be in touch with them as different discussions are under way. Another meeting will probably be necessary to hold some day next week.

Due to the closeness of the race between Paris and Cynthia, who are in a tie for first place in the league and but a few more games to be played, much depends on the results of the present week-end series, with the Cardinals playing at Cynthia and the Studebakers at Paris, the latter games being changed from Lexington on account of the races.

The squad looks unusually well at the end of their second week's practice.

MULES BACK MOWER OFF FERRY FLAT; ARE DROWNED.

A very unusual accident happened Friday on the ferry flat when a team of mules hitched to a mowing machine backed off the end of the flat when out in the river several hundred feet, drowning both animals. The outfit belonged to Adam Adloff, across the river, and Lewis McClurg had hired the outfit to do some mowing and was returning them home when the accident happened. During the day a heavy grappling hook and line was cast where they went down and at the first attempt a good hook was made and the outfit was towed ashore where the harness and mower were salvaged. The mules were towed across the river and dragged up the bank and buried. We are informed that Mr. Adloff has brought suit for the value of the mules—Vanceburg Sun.

ENGLAND WOULD PREVENT WAR IN THE NEAR EAST

Lloyd George Makes Statement That Great Britain Is Doing Its Utmost To Prevent War With Turks.

London, Sept. 23. — Great Britain is doing its utmost to avoid war in the near east, Premier David Lloyd George said in a statement to the press today.

England, the statement said, is doing all in her power to arrange an immediate conference of all nations concerned.

Lloyd George urged that the League of Nations guarantee the freedom of the Straits of the Dardanelles.

The freedom of the straits, he explained, is of vital interest to Great Britain and the entire civilized world.

Lloyd George said that if war spread to Thrace it might develop into a conflagration which would be difficult to extinguish.

"It must not be forgotten that the great war started in the Balkans," he said.

Britain's cabinet ministers met with Lloyd George in Downing street today to decide whether the Turks shall be permitted to re-enter Europe.

C. & O. SHOPMEN'S STRIKE IS SETTLED; CLERKS LEFT OUT

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Reaches Agreement With Striking Shopmen But Refuses to Consider Adjustment With Clerks.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 23.—The strike of shopmen on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad was settled Friday night at a conference of representatives of the strikers and the management, J. P. Parrish, general manager of the road, announced.

The management, however, refused to consider any adjustment with the striking clerks, Mr. Parrish said.

About 8,000 shopmen are included in the settlement, which the general manager stated was "agreeable to both sides."

The road has promised to take the men back within 30 days, according to Mr. Parrish. He added, however, that the strikers would be returned to work "as soon as we can arrange for it."

The settlement was made on the Willard-Jewell agreement with the exception that the clause providing for the reinstatement of all strikers was dropped by the negotiators. Under this clause the road would have been obliged to reemploy striking clerks.

At present, Mr. Parrish said, the shopmen's forces on the road are about 60 per cent. normal.

HEARTS IN THE WHITE HOUSE

The serious illness of Mrs. Harding, whose promised recovery has brought relief to the entire nation, has not been without its compensations.

For one thing, it has enabled the country to realize more keenly that the President and his wife are very human, very simple, and very democratic, liable to the trials which fall to the lot of all men, in need of the same sympathy and human ministries, and capable of the same quiet courage in the face of a great crisis.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harding have endeared themselves to their countrymen by their unassuming ways and generous and kindly instincts. Mrs. Harding, as David Lawrence says, has won the genuine regard of thousands who do not know her personally, but have learned in one way or another of "the charm of her personality." They have found that she "is endowed with qualities of democracy that make her the same modest person today that she was before her husband was thrust into the limelight."

The President's devotion to his wife has also been remarked, and cannot but have a salutary influence in an age when the marriage relation is held all too lightly. The dispatches have told of the President's inability to attend to any of the ordinary affairs of his office, and have pictured him seated just outside the door of the sick room wistfully scanning the faces of the physicians and nurses as they came and went, his pet Airedale beside him resting his shaggy head upon his master's knee, conscious of the President's anxiety and grief, and anxious to comfort him.

The universal sympathy of the nation in the hour of the President's trial reveals the fact that underneath all the political antagonisms and hostilities Mr. Harding holds a warm place in the affections of the people, and that they are sincerely interested in his welfare.

It is to be regretted that we cannot always remember that the President is a man of like passions with us, that he is borne down with almost overwhelming cares and responsibilities to which we have subjected him, and that like any good, loyal, conscientious American, he is striving to merit the approbation of his countrymen and advance the interests and destiny of the nation.

Partisan ship is inseparable from party government, and democracy will always be captious. No President hopes or expects to be free from the sting of criticism. But if we could always remember the human hearts in the White House, and treat the President and his family as good neighbors should treat each other, politics would not be so bitter and the task of the President would not be so appalling difficult.—Lexington Leader.

IS AMERICA SELFISH?

(Translation from Narod (Bohemian).)

Many Americans think that America has not done enough for Europe. Many Europeans in the old country think likewise.

There is, however, a considerable difference between these two classes of observers. The Americans we have tried to are led by motives of selfishness and generosity to the opinion that still more could be done. The Europeans, ignoring all that has been done, feel disgruntled merely because they would like to be recipients to a still greater extent.

Americans of foreign extraction can perhaps appreciate the situation better than the native born ones. We have personal knowledge of the conditions that prevail in different European countries; we are able to exchange ideas with those people abroad in their own language, and we come more in contact with them than others do. We are aware that America entered into the war in order to save millions from being killed, and that she has given billions of dollars and an enormous number of lives without asking anything in return. Each one of the victorious nations has received something of the war spoils; the only one that demanded nothing and received nothing for her generosity is America. When peace came, America, without asking who was friend and who enemy, helped either side and is still helping them.

The foreign language press of this country reaches every part of the world. It should feel duty-bound to counteract the influence of those dissatisfied European newspapers and to enlighten the world on the grand position which America has occupied in this matter throughout.

PLEDGES FULFILLED

The Republican party came into control of the national government in 1921, two and a half years after the termination of the war. Prior to coming into control of the administrative branch of the government, the Republicans had secured control of Congress, and, through power over appropriations, had forced the Democratic administration to cut down the number of persons on the civilian payroll. But, after all the reductions that could be effected from the Democratic regime, the Republicans have eliminated almost 80,000 from the public service since March 4, 1921. Tell that to your Democratic neighbor when he tells you that the Republicans have done nothing to fulfill campaign pledges.

HOPING FOR BETTER THINGS

Wonder, if we will live long enough to reach that blessed day when men will cease to hear of that ill-advised thing called emergency legislation.

We did not appreciate McAdoo but now we begin to see what a thorough job he did. During his brief tenure of the railroads he so thoroughly convinced the people that federal ownership and control is wrong that no matter what happens they shrink from it.—South Bend Tribune.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE EXILE AND RESTORATION.

The lessons of this quarter cover a period of almost exactly a hundred and fifty years, from the call of Ezekiel in 592 B. C. to the building of the walls of Jerusalem by Nehemiah in 444 B. C. and include the enormously important periods of the exile and the restoration which so deepened and enriched the spiritual life of the Hebrews, and the restoration which enabled them to continue and develop their work for God and the world in their own land, and so prepared the way in the fullness of the times, for the coming of our Lord.

In the course of our study many figures have passed before us during this quarter: Ezekiel, Ezra, Nehemiah, Daniel, Esther. We have noticed that the Hebrew religion drifted toward the priestly rather than the prophetic type during the prominence of Ezekiel, Ezra and Nehemiah. We have seen also that the lives of the people we have studied were marked by a high sense of responsibility and deliberately devoted to the public weal.

Ezekiel sought to warn his countrymen of impending danger. Then when the blow came he sought to inspire them with hope for the future. He declared that the dead nation would rise again to its feet as an exceedingly great army (37:10).

Nehemiah was equally devoted to the public betterment of his people. His devotion took practical form also. Having secured from the Persian king at whose court he served, permission to return to Palestine, he immediately took steps to have the walls of Jerusalem rebuilt without which Jewish life could not have been secure from the assault nor her religion free from heathen contamination.

Malachi pleaded for a purer worship and a nobler social life.

Ezra crossed the desert with the book of the law in his hand in order to lay in that book the foundation for the future life of the Jewish people.

Esther in Persia risked her life to save her people from destruction. All these men and women were patriots. They all sought the welfare of the children of Israel (Neh. 2:10). This also should be our position. We should have an ambition for public welfare. We should care for the welfare of the street that their lives might in return be a blessing to our land. I am impressed with Esther Beautiful woman with a great heart and love for her people. True love seems to pay any price for the object of that love. She risked her life! She denied herself! Can we love our fellowmen as she did? Are we wrapped up in selfish desires too much for this?

Let us remember too that the welfare of our country includes not only material things, but far more the things of the spirit it only not includes the welfare of our single nation but our love should take in the welfare of every other nation and scribble and people. "Preaching the Gospel to every creature" and acting the good Samaritan in aiding the needy.

Second: We learn the importance of nationality. Each of these great characters was devoted to his country. Nehemiah in one way; Ezra and Ezekiel in another. The great writer of Isa. 40:53 considered it a great privilege and duty of Israel to be a servant of Jehovah. Nationality counts today in world politics and it is of highest importance to grasp the truth which Israel's greatest men understood so well that a nation's business is not to clarify and serve itself, but to glorify God by serving Him in spirit and in truth and with His love shed abroad in our hearts by faith out to serve our nation. What a different world this would be if this was realized.

Third: The importance of the church. The story of the Jewish nation which we have studied in this quarter has really been the story of the Jewish church. Everything has centered around the church, its services and the mother city of the church, Jerusalem. The church may perhaps never have the dominant position in the nation again, as it did in ancient Jewish world yet from that condition back there we have many great lessons to learn.

Fourth: The importance of the Scriptures. The presentation of the book of the law to the assembly, and its exposition by the Levites who gave the sense so that the people understood the reading" form a vivid picture. Ezra proposed a national life built upon the Bible. Nowhere can one find such moral dynamics as are to be found in the Book of Books. A nation can not exist without individuals. For the people make up the nation, and it is no bad as its individual units make it. Let us rally to the Bible.

"A FINE SINGING SHOW."

This verdict at all times of J. A. Coburn's minstrels who appear at the Washington on October 2nd. Is one of Manager Coburn's hobbies good music, fine singing first, clean comedy next, novelty and oldtime darkey fun to round out an evening's performance with snap and pep, keeping minstrelsy close to the hearts of Americans. "Cobo" is a capable musician as well as manager, and gives close attention to solos ensemble and harmony numbers. This attraction is one of the few big shows who retain a singing act in the Old—along the lines of the old "male quartet or sextet" which from requests indicates the majority demand for "more singing" with minstrel attractions.

Among the soloists this year Edward Clifford, robust baritone; Jos. McAnlon, Irish tenor; Carlos Jones, basso; Norbert Lion, baritone; Thomas Bradley, lyric tenor; Dava Kahn, yodler and song writer; Karl Denton, male soprano and others indicate the best male choir ever engaged for this attraction. Hark the minstrel sings—should be worth while on the second of October.

If the internal briefs of every man could be read, written on his forehead, how many who now excite envy would appear to be objects of pity.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend in need.'"

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — Human beings spend their fortunes in pursuit of all sorts of things, some of them most unsatisfactory if the year finally obtained. So Sammy Hollander, aged eight, was doing nothing strange when he expended all of his worldly possessions upon the pursuit of a dog which he was certain must be homedick. The dog came into his possession when a man kicked it out of an automobile, but the other day it ran away. Sammy got together 21 cents and started out. His last nickel he spent on a ferry and was trudging on, haggard but undaunted, when a policeman found him and telephoned his family. He had been hunting for two days, with only an ice cream soda to eat. That had been bought by a sympathetic man who heard his story.

—NY—
I always loved the story of the child's essay on the flag. She told how George Washington said "We ought to have a flag." But no one seemed to get one. Then Betty Ross said, "We ought to have a flag. Here, father, hold the baby while I make one."

There is a woman here in New York who reminds me of Betty Ross. For years people have been saying, "The motion pictures ought to be improved. They have possibilities of high art." One day, Mrs. David Allen Campbell said, "The motion pictures ought to develop their possibilities for art. Let's make the most of it." Whereupon with no more fuss, she brought together a group of women interested, as she is, in art and music. They incorporated, got the kind of scenario they wanted for a first production, and are hard at work. As chairman of the music department of the National Council of Women and editor of the Musical Monitor, Mrs. Campbell saw an opportunity for education along the lines of better music along with better films, and so they are going to specialize in the production of the "film symphony," a synchronization of screen drama and orchestration. The first one, "The Soul of the Violin" is ready for production. They have taken offices at 1425 Broadway, are capitalized at $500,000 under the name of "The Dramatic Producing and Releasing

"BABY" G.A.R. VET TO ATTEND MEET

Charles H. Hilles, of Cincinnati, now 71, is the "Baby" veteran of the Civil War. He is 100 months younger than W. G. Second, of New Rochelle, N. Y., who formerly held that honor. Maj. Hilles will attend the G. A. R. encampment at Des Moines, Ia., late this month.

Company, and have interested some of the most practical business men and women as well as leading club women and musicians of the country.

—NY—
The owner of a little hardware shop on Canal street has mastered the art of brevity. Over his door there has for the past few days, a sign reading, "I go. I sell Everettnik."

—NY—
The bloodhounds of the law! I have read dramatic stories of federal crimes in which the U. S. Secret Service never ceased in its search until the guilty man was found; but never before did I know of a plain, ordinary ordinance breaker to be hunted by an equally plain policeman in such way. Two years ago Adam G. Winkler, of Brooklyn, was arrested for speeding and gave the wrong address. Patrolman George Campbell remembered him and has been on the lookout for him ever since. He traced him to Port Jervis, and the other day went and arrested him once more, this time bringing him right along at his side.

—NY—
Many students of the theater consider Marie Tempest the most finished comedienne of the age. After a long absence abroad she is appearing in New York in Arthur Richman's, "The Serpent's Tooth." Certainly her comedy is most subtle artistry, and the criticism that one hears most often is "How sincere and natural she seems." This fact would be borne out in a story that is going the rounds, to the effect that the first actress who was asked to play the part of the ingenue in the play, with whom Miss Tempest, as her prospective mother-in-law falls in love was not familiar with the lines, and when Miss Tempest said the line "You are such a sweet innocent dear," it came as such a shock to the girl that she choked in laughter while smoking a cigarette in rehearsal. Miss Tempest ordered her part filled by some one else, which would indicate that she demands the same sincerity of her players which she practices.

SPORTS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 22. — The University of Cincinnati football team will be greatly outwheeled by the University of Pittsburgh in their game on Carson Field, Cincinnati, September 30. There are four regulars in the Pitt lineup that weighs over 200, while on the other hand there is no man in the Bearcat squad that weighs over 190 pounds. Most notable of the Panthers that are extremely heavy are Hilpo Hewitt, f. b., who weighs 212, and Tiny Miller, center, who weighs 230. Coach Warner, of the Pittsburgh team picked these two men from the Pitt student body although they seemed to be much too fat for football. Miller weighed 275 pounds when he first attracted Warner's attention. By hard work the past year and this summer he has cut his weight down to 230. Hewitt was almost entirely responsible for the Panther's 21-14 victory over the Bearcats last fall. With the score 14-7 against him in the beginning of the fourth quarter Hilpo carried the ball on short plunges from the 12 yard line on over, and later intercepted a forward pass and ran 75 yards for the winning marker.

The Pitt backfield this fall will probably be the heaviest that has ever played in this section of the country. Hewitt, of course is the biggest with his 212, Colonna weighing 190 comes next with Capt. Holleran, quarterback, weighing 180, and Bowser, halfback, weighing 170.

Opposed to this backfield the University of Cincinnati will probably use Palmor, 172, fullback; Linneman, 190, halfback; Danus, 160, halfback, and Birt, 160 quarterback.

Pitt's entire team will average about 183 while Cincinnati will weigh 169.

Pitt will come from its three week training period in the mountains, while the Bearcats have had but two weeks on Carson Field. It will be Warner system against Warner system, as Coach McLaren, of Cincinnati was Warner's greatest fullback a few years ago. The reserved seat sale will be very heavy for this game as the football fans of Cincinnati and the surrounding sections are taking advantage of this attraction. Out of town fans may reserve seats, the few which are left, by writing to Boyd B. Chambers, Director of Athletics, University of Cincinnati.

FONDNESS FOR CANDY IS CAUSE OF MAN'S ARREST.

Louisville. — Clarence A. Bennett's fondness for candy led to his arrest in the Jeffersonville, Ind., postoffice, where he was employed as a clerk. Numerous articles of little value have been disappearing, among them several boxes of candy. A box of chocolates was sent by a postoffice inspector, it was said, but did not reach its destination.

CASES OF 500 EX-SERVICE MEN SETTLED BY BOARD.

Frankfort. — More than 500 cases have been settled by the Kentucky Ex-SERVICE Men's Board since it began work six months ago, according to Adjutant General Jackson Morris, who met with members of the board to go over reports and transact routine business. Approximately 1,500 cases still are pending, according to General Morris.

HELPTHE OLD FOLKS

A Helping Hand Extended to Many Old People in Maysville.

The infirmities of age are many. Most old people have a bad back. The kidneys are often weak. Or worn out with years of work. Backache means days of misery. Urinary troubles, nights of unrest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped to make life easier for many.

The yearling dog so old and young. Maysville people are learning this. Read the following local endorsement: Charles Kennan, retired farmer, 81 Wood street, Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several different times within the last few years and never had them fail to do me good. My kidneys were in bad shape. The secretions were unnatural and burned terribly in passage. My back kept me in misery during the time the attack lasted and I was feeling generally run down. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a couple of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. Doan's reached my case at once and cured me up in god shape. I have always relied upon Doan's since and a few now and then regulate my kidneys and keep them in good condition." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kennan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
